

Honky-Tonk Pianist Is Feature at Marineland

One of the most captivating shows to ever entertain at Marineland Restaurant, "Big" Tiny Little and his hot-noted quintet, opened last Thursday in a return engagement at the dining establishment on Palos Verdes peninsula.

The honky-tonk pianist and his all-star sidemen, featuring barrel-house songstress Josephine, present "the happiest music in America from the roaring 20's to the soaring 60's," playing the infectious kind of ragtime numbers that make audiences stand up and applaud.

Acclaimed as the greatest thing that ever happened to a piano, Little has recorded many popular albums and starred on his own musical TV show.

MR. HONKY TONK

He came to Marineland Restaurant direct from a guest-starring appearance on the "Dinah Shore Show." Once a regular on the "Lawrence Welk Show," where he was dubbed "Mr. Honky Tonk," Little is often compared to the late Fats Waller and his "stride" school of piano.

Audiences took to the keyboard star during previous engagements, and loyal fans already have started to make reservations to welcome him back to the "Porpoise Room." He is a crowd-pleaser for all age groups, not just those to whom ragtime music echoes a nostalgic past. Little and his "wild" five-piece band will be on tap at Marineland Restaurant nightly except Mondays.

Hospital Sends Two Women to Day-Long Meet

Two department heads of the Riviera Community Hospital, Torrance, attended the Hospital Personnel Management Institute, sponsored by the Hospital Council of Southern California, last Thursday, at the Hollywood Roosevelt Hotel.

According to Administrator Robert W. Lyons, Mrs. Elizabeth Johnson, office manager, and Rose Eberhart, R.N., director of nurses, attended the day long meeting which was devoted to the most efficient and effective use of hospital personnel.

Designed for administrators and department heads who are responsible for the development of the employees they supervise, the institute featured top training, personnel and psychology experts.

Among those scheduled to speak or conduct seminars were: Landy E. McBride, special conference leader, management development center, California Institute of Technology; Edward J. Stainbrook, M.D., chief psychiatrist, Los Angeles County General Hospital; Dr. Edward M. Glaser, Edward Glaser & Associates, consulting psychologists; Russell Frizzell, assistant vice president, director of staff training, First Western Bank; Dr. John Jacobs, executive assistant in charge of management, development, Southern California Gas Co.; and Angus G. S. MacLeod, administrator, management program, Institute of Industrial Relations, U.C.L.A.

Rehearsals Now Set for 'I Pagliacci'

Rehearsals are in full swing for the coming performance of "I Pagliacci" by the Civic Symphony of the South Bay and Torrance, Elyse Aehle conducting.

This will be the fourth annual opera presented by the Civic Symphony under this conductor. In March 1959 "Carmen" was presented to an enthusiastic and large audience; in 1960 "Faust," in 1961 "Aida," and now in 1962 the choice is "I Pagliacci" by Loen-cavallo.

The part of the clown, Tonio, is in the capable hands of Lyle Heck of Torrance who has been soloist on tour with the Roger Wagner Choral and who has been a leading figure in the music of greater Los Angeles.

Nedda, will be sung by Anne Bethel of Hollywood Riviera who is also a prominent soloist both in Los Angeles and in the wider field.

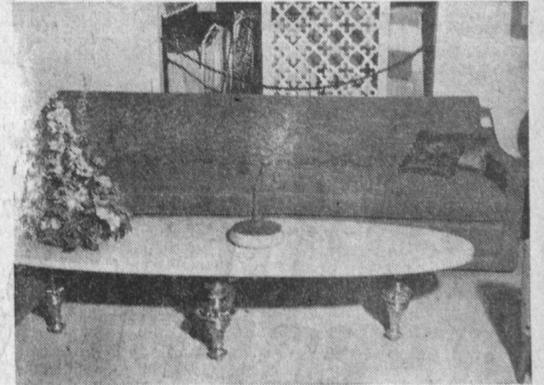

Opera was chosen by Conductor Elyse Aehle and Dr. Jan Popper, head of the U.C.L.A. Opera Workshop, whose opera program on television has caused such wide-spread interest. Dr. Popper considered by many opera enthusiasts to be the highest authority on opera in the West. He will oversee the vocals of the coming performance.

The Civic Symphony Orchestra has recently added many outstanding musicians to its membership. New players are welcome on any Monday night at the music hall of Redondo High School. There is room especially for a capable oboist.
